Summary: This is a short moment. This happens before the appearance of the flood in halo 2. This shows some of the Gravemind's feelings toward all other life.

The Epitome of Sin

Rage, agony, hatred, malice. These are the thoughts and feelings that I have had since my birth. But there is one striking feature that is above all elseâ€¦| _Hunger. Consumption. Wanting to absorb everything in a black, icy mist that is inescapable._ The pathetic life-force of the ungrateful humans is worthless. I, the Gravemind, and The Flood, will consume all sentient life. That is our only means of survival. Originally, we didn't want toâ€¦| However, now that we have seen the emotions and feelings of people alive and those of whom we have consumed, we have come to learn humans are selfish. This war between the covenant and the humans is over nothing but greed. We wait in the shadows. We wait in the darkness, biding our time to strike. Our cold, emotionless states intimidate all. All creatures fear us. The huntâ€¦| Shall begin soonâ€¦| _HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!__AND WHEN IT DOES, ALL SHALL PERISH!_
